

Your motivation profile shows the extent to which different areas have a motivating effect on you. Any lines on the diagram that are in the vicinity of the 50-line are of no crucial significance to your levels of motivation. It should be emphasised that this profile says nothing about your work performance within a given area, only the extent to which the various areas motivate and energise you.

